SEATTLE SEMINARY.

OWNERSHIP.

The Seattle Seminary is the property of the Free Methodist Church, and is conducted by a Board of Trustees elected by the Washington Conference. It is under the especial patronage of the Pacific Coast Conferences.

LOCATION.

The Seminary is located at Ross, a suburb of Seattle, Washington. It has the advantage of the quiet country so favorable to student life, and yet it is in the reach of the city libraries, lectures and markets.

The tide-waters of Puget Sound can be seen from the grounds. The magnificent scenery of the Puget Sound country can scarcely be surpassed in the United States. The climate is exceedingly equable and healthful, as well as pleasing. There has not been a serious case of sickness in the school.

BUILDINGS.

The main building is of brick, substantial, commodious and well adapted to the needs of a school family. Spring water is carried by pipes to the highest story, and hot and cold water are supplied to kitchen and bath-rooms. This building is heated by furnaces and lighted by electricity.

The Young Ladies' Hall is a beautiful two-story building. It is heated by hot water, lighted by electricity and is strictly modern in every particular. These buildings are surrounded by a five-acre campus, tastefully laid out in lawns and walks.

SEMINARY LIBRARY.

The Library contains over five hundred volumes of well-selected works, to which additions are being constantly made. Among other valuable works are Encyclopædia Britannica, Library of World's Best Literature (30 vols.), Standard History of the United States, (6 vols.), Encyclopædic Dictionary, (4 vols.)

BOARDING DEPARTMENT.

The boarding department is conducted on scientific and hygienic principles. All students coming from abroad will be expected to board with Faculty in the Seminary building, unless other arrangements are made with the Principal. This brings each student in wholesome contact with the teachers.

GOVERNMENT.

The government of the school is what should be expected in any well-regulated Christian home. Love and kindness are the ruling elements in the school.

Seattle Seminary is in no sense a reformatory. All bad habits, such as smoking, chewing, the use of profane and vulgar language, must be given up as a condition of becoming a student. As this is a Christian school, simplicity of dress will be encouraged.

FACULTY.

The Faculty is composed of teachers of experience and thorough educational qualifications. They are of fixed Christian principles and can be depended upon to do conscientious work.

BIBLE STUDY.

The object of the founders of this school was to provide a place where young people might secure a thorough education under Christian influences. With this end in view, the Bible will be given a prominent place in all our work.

Every student will be expected to do systematic work in Bible study.

LITERARY WORK.

The Alexandrian Literary Society and the Philopolemic Debating Club have been organized and successfully conducted by the students.

Regular literary work is required of each student.

ARTICLES FURNISHED BY STUDENTS.

Each student furnishes one pillow, three sheets, two pillow-slips, comfortable and blankets, white bedspread, towels, soap, napkins, clothes-brush, shoe-brush, umbrella. Rubber coats are very desirable for both boys and girls in bad weather of fall and winter. All articles must be plainly marked with owner's name. Students will have their own laundrying done.

PAYMENTS.

Tuition is payable in advance; board, one-half term in advance. Students are expected to comply with these conditions or make satisfactory arrangements before entering upon their studies.

Students are not received for less than one-half term. No deductions are made for tardiness at the beginning of a term, for absence, or for departure before the close of the term, except in case of protracted illness when a reduction of one-half will be made. All money for board and tuition will be paid to the Principal.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION.

ACADEMIC DEPARTMENT.

Three courses of study may be elected in this department. The Classical Course prepares for entrance to college. The Christian Workers' Course is intended for those who wish to spend a short time in preparation for Christian work. Special advantages are offered to those who are preparing for foreign missionary fields.

INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT.

The studies of this department are Reading, Spelling, Writing, Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, U. S. History, Physiology, English and Civil Government.

Students are expected to pass satisfactory examinations in each of the foregoing studies before entering either of the courses of the Academic department. The New York State Regents' Examinations have been adopted as the standard.

Certificates entitling the holder to admission to either of the higher courses will be granted to all who complete the work of this department.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

Most careful attention is given to the training of the children in the primary classes, while the little ones are placed directly under helpful Christian influences. They are received and classified according to their degree of advancement.

KINDERGARTEN.

This department will be open to children under school age and will be conducted by a well-trained teacher.
