DEDICATION

DIVINE APPROVAL—ONLY IN THIS WAY CAN WE ACCOUNT FOR SEATTLE PACIFIC COLLEGE, ITS GROWTH, ITS EXPANSION, AND ITS PRESENT POSITION. IT IS TO PRESIDENT BEERS, THE PIONEER, AND ONE OF ITS FOUNDERS, WHO SERVED AS PRESIDENT DURING ITS FIRST SIX YEARS AS A COLLEGE; TO DR. TIFFANY, THE ESTABLISHER, WHO SAW THE COLLEGE FREED FROM DEBT AND LAUNCHED UPON ITS PRESENT FINANCIAL POLICY; AND TO DR. WATSON, THE BUILDER, WHO, IN HIS SIXTEEN YEARS OF SERVICE HAS SEEN ITS ACCREDITATION AND STANDING ASSURED, THAT WE DEDICATE THIS CASCADE OF 1941-42. + + + UNDER THE LEADERSHIP OF DR. WATSON WE CONFIDENTLY LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

Fifty Years . . . 1892-1942

When, in 1891, Seattle Seminary first opened its doors, few, other than its founders, realized that from these halls would go forth men and women into whose hearts had been instilled that which would enable them to be a blessing in every walk of life.

For more than twenty years, under the leadership of Rev. Alexander Beers, it was known as Seattle Seminary. In 1910 college work was introduced, and in 1915 the name was changed to Seattle Pacific College. But with the change of the name there was no change in the spirit of the institution which grew rapidly under the guidance of Dr. Orrin E. Tiffany, the successor of President Beers.

In 1925, President C. Hoyt Watson took over the helm, and for more than fifteen years he has worked with us—as one of us; and now in this, the fiftieth year of its existence, we, the students of S.P.C., face the future, as others have in the past, with that something in our lives which will enable us, even in a war-torn world, to overcome, to conquer—through Christ, our Captain.

Elected to Lead

the Associated Students was Bob Nemyre, our congenial president. However, at the end of the winter quarter Bob was called into Army service, and Milo Morris, vice-President, stepped forward to the place of leadership. Records of the Student Council and ASSPC were efficiently kept this year by Toshiko Senda, while to Norman MacDonald was given the task of balancing the books.

Governing the Activities

and finances of a student body is no easy task, but, by working together, the Student Council representatives again this year went far in attaining their goal. Sponsorship of the school publications, along with the direction of all religious, social, forensic, and athletic activities was a part of the task of this body composed of the associated officers, the department directors, a faculty adviser, and three representatives from each class. Special achievements of the council this year were a new lighting system for the recreation room and a student subscription to the Living Endowment Fund of more than 100 units.

Hold that ball...

was heard on the football field time and time again as Werdall and Adams broke out into the open to score for the Freshmen. The Sophomores had a hard-charging outfit which proved too good for the fleet-footed Frosh. Again the upper classes could do no better than the lower division berths. All-star team was composed of: Werdall, Starkey, Adams, Stickney, Sheridan, and Turnidge.

Set it up! . . . Spike it!

Both terms are used in volley ball. The Seniors seemed to have had both well in mind, for they certainly practiced them. With Montgomery setting them up and Lindley spiking them, it was a question of how strong an interference could be mustered by their opponents.

The all-star team included Wes Stickney, Bill Myron, Ray Montgomery, Harold Lindley, Clayton Engebretsen, Dick Ashton, Harlow Snyder, and Charles Helsel.

Turnidge, Petrie, Samuelson, Montgomery, Ward, Parsons

Girls' volley ball was won by the Juniors, with the Sophs and Seniors coming in second and third, respectively. The Frosh lost out entirely, but all teams put up a good fight in spite of the shortage in numbers and lack of experience.

The all-star team: Esther Thorsen, Mildred Beckwith, Gertrude Crook, Muriel DeLong, Ardelle Lane, Ardis Odle, Elma Fuhrmann, Virginia Pickering, Gertrude Holtgeerts.

Closer, Lord, to Thee

has been the prayer of hundreds of S.P.C. students upon leaving the College Church after an inspiring and encouraging message.

The true value of Seattle Pacific could scarcely be realized without considering the contribution of the church to the lives of young men and women. To many it has given spiritual life, guidance and counsel, and we, as students, can do no less than accept the challenge of Christianity as we have heard it presented from Sunday to Sunday.

The sound advice and friendly spirit of our pastor, Rev. F. J. Archer, have been an encouragement to the entire student body; and his consistent Christian living has proved to us that in the service of the Master there is lasting joy.

Active in the Service

of their King were the members of the Evangelistic Band this year. A crowded schedule was provided for all students interested in Christian service, and groups carried weekly, to churches and city missions, the gospel through song and the spoken word. Sunday afternoons were spent in bringing cheer to shut-ins—a part of the program which every member greatly enjoyed.

It was the hope of the Band that each S.P.C. student would find that deeper spiritual life which is only gained through a "closer walk with Him."

Officers: Forest Bush, president; David Sheridan, vice-president; Laura Belle Smith, secretary.

National Affiliation

with the Student Foreign Missionary Fellowship this year revitalized the Volunteer movement. It is our belief that this new spiritual tie will give a more complete and definite knowledge of a great world need.

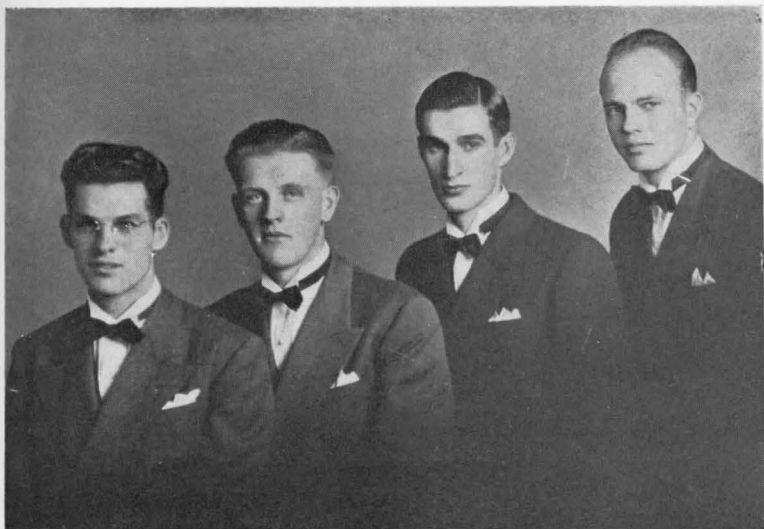

Student Volunteers are now occupied in making new world maps which will be conspicuously posted in SPC's halls that all may hear the Master's call to service—"Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature . . . and Lo! I am with you always even unto the end of the world."

Officers for the year were: George Henderson, president; Robert Lindberg, vice-president; Muriel de Long, secretary; Barbara Harrah, literary chairman; Ruth Lundquist, program chairman.

Victory through Christ

was the slogan of the "Victory Boys" this year. As has been the custom for several years, the quartet was heard over Station KOMO on the Fellowship Hour each Sunday, and participated in the Five Hundredth Anniversary Broadcast of this program together with Victory quartets of former years. Personnel: Charles Helsel, first tenor; Allan Galbraith, second tenor; Arthur Zylstra, baritone; and Melvin Foreman, bass.

The Call of Calvary . . .

a weekly student broadcast under the direction of Ralph Odman and Delmer Owen featured the Clarion Quartet which was composed of Wesley Graham, first tenor; Howard Fordice, second tenor; Frank Miller, baritone; and Robert Traina, bass. During the winter and spring quarters Robert Poland, first tenor, and Ralph Odman, baritone, filled vacancies left by Graham and Miller.

Inspiring Music

presented by the College Chorus included the presentation of two major works, the "Messiah," by Handel, and the outstanding sacred oratorio, "Elijah," by Mendelssohn.

The Christmas presentation of the "Messiah" is a tradition at Seattle Pacific, and this year, under the direction of Professor L. R. Schoenhals, with Miss Marian Wilson as accompanist, two concerts were given, one at the Queen Anne Baptist Church and the other in McKinley Auditorium. Soloists included Patricia Schage, soprano; Mildred Davidson, contralto; Robert Poland, tenor, and Arthur Zylstra, bass.

In the spring Mendelssohn's dramatic oratorio, "Elijah," was presented in McKinley Auditorium.

Officers of the year included Howard Fordice, president; Arthur Zylstra, vice-president, and Virginia Pickering, secretary.

Unusual Interest

in things musical—both academic and cultural—marked the year 1941-42. Enrollment in the School of Music exceeded that of previous years.

The school year was off to a good start with the addition of two new members to the faculty: John Hopper, a leading Northwest pianist, and Talmadge F. Elwell, organist. Mr. Hopper, in addition to his teaching, gave a recital in the college chapel and programs in four of the Seattle high schools in the interest of Seattle Pacific. Mr. Elwell immediately took over the position of organist on the Fellowship Hour and has played regularly. An increased enrollment in organ gave evidence of the popularity of Mr. Elwell.

A new piano, a Baldwin concert grand, was added to the equipment of the School of Music this year, and it is hoped that in the near future the Department will find it possible to purchase an organ for the new McKinley Auditorium.

A Weekly Record

of life at S.P.C. in a newspaper that measured up to college standards was the aim of this year's Falcon staff. An additional opportunity for service was found in having the Falcon sent to former students who are now in the Army and Navy.

A staff of about thirty members was headed this year by Evelyn Larson, editor, with Bob Mounce as associate editor. Elaine Enos and Gerald Goff were news editors. Department editors included Peggy Daniels, Majil Glascock, Fred Wermuth, and George Green.

Securing the ads to give the paper the necessary financial support was the responsibility of Harold Hansen, business manager. In charge of the circulation department was Marie Jones in the autumn quarter, succeeded by Herbert Warriner in the winter and spring quarters.

The staff felt very fortunate in having Professor Evan K. Gibson as faculty adviser. Professor Gibson contributed much to the success of the Falcon.

Fifty Years . . . 1892-1942

In the realm of international affairs, the year 1941-42 will not be recorded in the annals of history as "golden." However, during this jubilee year Seattle Pacific College proved that it is possible to lift high a gospel of love and to move constructively forward, even in a world filled with hatred and dedicated to destruction.

This year was one of progress. The plans for the future enlarged rather than diminished; the Living Endowment League and the Jubilee Expansion program were launched, while McKinley Auditorium was brought near to completion.

This was also a period of marked spiritual progress, during which an attitude of consecration prevailed among faculty and students alike. Special services under the guidance of evangelists, Miss Bessie Reed and Reverend D. L. Fenwick, led many to Christ and lifted others to a higher plane of Christian living. Perhaps the most golden aspect of the year was the marked presence of that spirit of friendliness, harmony, and devotion for which S.P.C. is noted.

Juniors

de Long    Beckwith    Ashton    Mackie

IN SEPTEMBER, 1939, the campus and corridors of the Seattle Pacific College awakened to voices of the new members of the Class of 1943. This class was outstanding in athletic, religious, and literary fields, and in filling student body offices.

The main social activities of this year included the annual class hike, the junior-sophomore skating party, and a progressive party. Following the dictates of custom, the juniors again were host to the seniors at the annual junior-senior banquet.

Class officers were Frank Miller and Dick Ashton, presidents during the first, second and third quarters respectively; Muriel de Long, vice-president; Mildred Beckwith, secretary; and Louise Mackie, treasurer.

Fight on to Victory

seemed to be the slogan of the varsity squad this year. It may have been the renovating of the gym or just the will to win, but something did happen to the Falcons. After dropping three out of the first four games, they snapped into action and won six straight to finish the season with only three losses against seven victories. The winning spirit started in a game played as a part of a benefit program at Bellevue. Although behind ten points at the half, the S. P. C. quintet came back to head out the Bellevue team 23 to 22. After that the Falcons just wouldn't be defeated. The climax of the season came when they met the Alumni in the annual game of games. The gym was filled to overflowing, the Alumni had a team that looked strong, but the Falcons fought their way to victory in one of the greatest games in recent years.

Captain Eldon Turnidge and Arthur Petrie, both Seniors, will be missed tremendously next year, but Coach Lloyd Vincent and the following Falcons will continue to hold the fort: Art Zylstra, George Dailey, Dick Ashton, Bill Myron, Eldon Starkey, Marshall Adams and Herb Warriner.

Score Tied!

Twenty seconds to go! Both teams fighting hard for victory! This was often the case as the four intramural basketball teams fought through a nine-game schedule that proved to be the most thrilling one in recent years. The results? They were not all known, but as to the winning team, the Freshmen, after losing their first four games, sprang back into the rest of the schedule and playoff to whip a strong Sophomore five into submission. There was no one outstanding man on the championship quintet. "Red" Werdal, Tommie Nordtvedt, and Clarence Hunter were all "hot," and you know the result. The Juniors and Seniors lagged to end in a tie for last place. Here are the six who landed in the all-star team: Clarence Hunter, Wes Stickney, Tommy Nordtvedt, Melvin Foreman, Morris Werdall, and Norman MacDonald.

*Crook, Blomberg, A. Odle, Sternberg,

Plenty of Action

was had during basketball games between the girls. After two weeks of practice and organizing the individual teams, the games were started. Two rounds were played, and the Juniors, with two years of experience behind them, finished in first place. The Freshmen were only one game behind the champions, while the Sophs were left in the rear.

Again this year a varsity team was chosen to play against Bellevue High, and although they were beaten in this game, the girls were glad for the opportunity to play the outside team.

Much of the credit for the enthusiasm and success of the girls' basketball season was due Dr. Weter, coach of women's athletics.

And the Band played on . . .

under the direction of Professor John Lundberg! This year pep music was provided for basketball games, and quarterly concerts were presented in the chapel.

Through the backing of the A.S.S.P.C., funds were provided for the purchase of new music and various instruments.

Although the yell leaders do not get much credit, they are really the driving force behind the athletic program. Our thanks to Peggy Daniels and Ray Montgomery!

Publishing of a Yearbook

is a unique experience. In retrospect, the worries and problems of the year grow increasingly dim, and compensating factors stand out in refreshing relief. One couldn't ask for better cooperation than that given by Marjory Snyder, associate editor; Ann Overholt, literary editor; and Elaine Enos, picture editor. Special mention should be given to Marjory, whose ideas added "sparkle" to the book.

Many others were generous with their time and talents in order to make this an "Anniversary Book." To Charles Helsel with his camera, Howard Schenck with his art contributions, and Dick Ashton, who was always ready to lend a helping hand, we drop a note of thanks. Miss Marston, Dr. Kendrick, Dean Miller, and other faculty members were gracious with encouraging words.

All in all, we enjoyed it. We trust you will feel your pulse quicken as you scan these pages, not only today, but at difficult moments in those even richer tomorrows.

A New Type of Debating

was introduced this year known as "clash debating," in which much interest was shown, as well as in the regular form of contest debate.

In all contests of the year Forensics members took part in other forms of speaking such as extempore speaking, impromptu and after-dinner speaking, oratory, and discussions in problem solving.

Under the direction of our coach, Miss Danielson, many qualified to participate in intercollegiate contests, obtaining honors of which S.P.C. is justly proud.

Innes, Arnold, Somerton, Peterson, Parsons

Here's to Pi Kappa Delta

for the most successful year of activity since its organization! Many were the achievements during the season, but the highlight feature which formulated the climax was the sending of delegates to Minneapolis to represent SPC at the National Forensic Convention. Jim Innes, Elmer Parsons, and Phoebe Peterson were the delegates chosen for the Eastern tournament.

Officers of Pi Kappa Delta are: President, Phoebe Peterson; vice-president, Elsie Somerton; secretary-treasurer, James Innes.

Service to S. P. C.

is the aim of the Falconettes. Membership in this organization is based on scholarship, character, and extra-curricular activity. Although the services of the year were varied, the major project was the furnishing of a girls' lounge. The friendliness and guidance of their adviser, Mrs. Ashton, was an inspiration.

Officers for the year were: Frances Pickering, president; Elsie Somerton, vice-president; Toshiko Senda, secretary; Phoebe Peterson, treasurer; Evelyn Larson, publicity director; Marjory Snyder, social director.

Informal "Get Togethers"

were sponsored each quarter by the A.W.S. to promote a spirit of friendliness between the off-campus and dormitory women.

In the autumn new co-eds were welcomed at a Big-Little Sister tea. Christmas and Valentine parties were the highlights of the winter quarter, while the main event of the spring was the traditional luncheon given in honor of the senior women. In all meetings and activities there was a decided spiritual atmosphere.

Officers this year were Esther Bekker, president; Sylvia Ahnlund and Barbara Farrah, vice-presidents; Charlotte Andersen, secretary-treasurer; Ardis Odle, athletic director; Nellie Gwinn, reporter; Dorothy Smith, artist; and Peggy Daniels, social director.

Nothing Short of Formality

is suggested by Wermie and Willa as they pose after the All-School Banquet. Al Galbraith is caught delving into his favorite subject, while Bob Mounce is apparently trying to keep his head from turning toward the picture behind him. Esther Thorsen and Evelyn Sternberg don't seem very happy at being left out of the party going on at their right. Snoqualmie Pass and its ski thrills are immortalized but we wonder how the snow got on the fellows' caps. Finally, the touching Christmas scene at the bottom of the page is surely not to be sniffed at.

Fifty Years . . . 1892-1942

With determination and optimism Seattle Pacific College looks forward. A definite plan has been inaugurated to meet the needs of a larger enrollment and the "greater college" of the future. An extended campus, a new gymnasium, a boat house, a new central heating plant, and an enlarged library—all these and many other projects are included in the Golden Jubilee Expansion Program.

The rapid growth in the membership of the Living Endowment League proves the sincere interest of friends and alumni in the College, and their desire to see these goals attained.

However, it is not entirely upon the basis of such careful planning that we feel confident of SPC's future success. The entire history of the College is marked by chapter after chapter demonstrative of Divine approval. It is upon His continued leadership that we depend.

Samuelson, Daniels, Parsons, Foreman

The Class of '42

is thankful for the experiences of the past four years which have brought to each graduate a greater spiritual vision, stability of character, and a definite purpose in life. As the "Golden Jubilee" class of S. P. C. faces the world of today with its problems, it is the hope of each member that from the store of golden experiences may be drawn, in the years to come, something that will bless the lives of others. To Dean and Mrs. Miller, class advisers, go our appreciation for their interest and encouragement.

Officers: Melvin Foreman, president; Elmer Parsons, vice-president; Peggy Daniels, secretary; John Samuelson, treasurer.

Builders of the Future

are the charter members of the Eta Pi Alpha chapter of the Future Teachers of America. The FTA is a national organization sponsored by the National Education Association, of which the Seattle Pacific chapter is the second to be established in Washington. Membership also includes junior membership in both the Washington Education Association and the National Education Association. Realizing that entering the education profession is something more than mere accumulation of credits to satisfy the State Board of Education, these students have indicated their professional spirit by affiliating with leading state and national education associations.

Officers: Anna Overholt, president; Charlotte Andersen, vice-president; Frances Eddy, secretary-treasurer; Elaine Enos, reporter; Dean Paul W. Wright, adviser.

LOVED AND REVERED

by all her students, Miss Candis Nelson, Dean Emeritus, this year completes active service on the staff of Seattle Pacific College. Two years ago she relinquished the administrative duties of the College of Education. In 1921 Miss Nelson organized the department, and under her direction it has experienced a steady growth. It has attracted students from many states and different denominations. The standards she has maintained have given the College a distinct prestige.

Miss Nelson's years of service at Seattle Pacific have not only left their imprint on the College, but have found expression in countless communities. Teachers who have received their training at Seattle Pacific are to be found in positions of responsibility throughout the nation and in foreign lands. Faculty and students alike pay tribute to the scholarly and devoted service which Miss Nelson has contributed.

PAUL W. WRIGHT, Dean,
College of Education.

Prospects for the Season

looked bad, as Baseball got under way this spring, but "quit" didn't seem to be in the S. P. C. vocabulary. The Freshmen turned out with the vim and vigor characteristic of that class. The Sophomores and Seniors combined their forces while the Juniors just did eke out a team. However, all classes entered into the program with an enthusiasm that promised a peppy series.

The War Ban on Rubber

had little effect in dampening the spirits of tennis enthusiasts this year. The new back-courts proved a satisfactory improvement, and new nets also added to the convenience and pleasure of the racket game. Much interest was shown in the spring tournaments with such players competing as Bill Myron, Marshall Adams, Gertrude Crook, and Evelyn Sternberg.

William Tell

surely started something when he divided that apple with an arrow, because the S. P. C.-ites seemingly wanted to carry on the custom — and quite well, too; for archery this year proved an interesting sport for both men and women. With the coaching of Dr. Weter, several became quite skillful with the bow and arrow.

Two Splendid Tours . . .

one in the winter quarter, and the other during the spring holidays, climaxed a busy season for the A Capella, under the direction of Professor L. R. Schoenhals. The first tour took the Choir through northern and western Washington, while the second covered the eastern part of the State. The spirited and artistic singing of the group was well received everywhere, and testimonies of the members were an inspiration to all who heard them.

Officers for the year included Arthur Zylstra, president; Virginia Pickering, secretary-treasurer; Gerald Goff, librarian; and Clark Robb, platform manager.

Hearts God Hath Touched . . .

characterized the members of the Ministerial Association which was comprised of students whom God has definitely called forth as His messengers.

The main objective of the association this year was spiritual fellowship and communion with God in order that each individual would be drawn closer to Him. This brought us more fully to the realization that we should "reckon ourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord," and that we, going forth, will "preach not ourselves but Christ Jesus the Lord." Of especial inspiration were the Bible study messages given by guest ministers and various members of the association.

Officers were Harris Hunter, president, and Willadee Nelson, secretary.
