THE SEMINARY CHAPEL

THE SEATTLE SEMINARY

This institution is the property of the Free Methodist Church and is conducted by a Board of Trustees elected by the Washington Conference. It is under the special patronage of the Washington, Oregon and Columbia River Conferences.

LOCATION

The Seminary is located in Ross, a suburb of Seattle. It has the advantages of the quiet country so favorable to student life, and yet it is in reach of the city libraries and markets. The business center of Seattle is but four miles distant and two lines of street cars afford convenient transportation to and from the school. The magnificent scenery of the Puget Sound country is unsurpassed. The snow-capped peaks of the Cascade and Olympic ranges can be seen a hundred miles distant. Islands dot the waters of Puget Sound and a trip on this famous body of water is never forgotten. The climate is exceedingly equable and pleasant. The lawns are green throughout the entire year and the summers are the delight of those who are seeking for comfort and pleasure.

BUILDINGS

The buildings are strictly modern and well adapted for school purposes. The New Administration Building now being erected will be one of the finest of its kind in the State. The trustees hope to complete this building without delay, as it is greatly needed in order to accommodate the constantly increasing attendance of the institution. The Main Building is a fine four-story brick structure, heated by hot air, lighted by electricity, and is an ornament to the campus. The Girl's Hall is well arranged and will accommodate forty persons. This building is heated by hot water, lighted by electricity, well supplied with hot and cold water and is cheerful and home-like.

AIM OF THE SCHOOL

It is the aim of this institution to train the heart as well as the mind, to send out men and women who will grace society with their accomplishments and edify it by their virtues. Pupils are trained to think for themselves; to express their ideas modestly, clearly and frankly; to use their resources of knowledge with tact and good judgment and to avoid in conversation all that is rude, insipid, or trivial. It is the constant endeavor of the teachers to induce those who are committed to their care to become earnest Christians in heart and life. The religious privileges enjoyed by the students are unexcelled. The home circle gathers about the family altar each morning and evening. A special meeting in charge of the Principal is attended by all the students each Tuesday evening. The students' prayer meeting, held each school day from 8:15 to 8:45 a. m., is a place of special profit to those who attend. All students are expected to attend Sabbath-school and the regular church services at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M. on the Sabbath. Bible study is pursued throughout the course, one hour per week.

DISCIPLINE

The good discipline of the Institution demands unqualified obedience to its rules. But its moral and social training, the most important in education, teaches individual responsibility, and obedience to personal convictions of right and duty. This method lies at the foundation of true character, and is the educator's most delicate and difficult field of service. The end to be attained is that the child shall stand safely and firmly when the fostering influences of school and home are withdrawn.

Special attention is given to the care and guidance of the pupils, for we are impressed with the conviction that education is derived not merely from the acquisition of knowledge, but to a still greater extent from that potent and shaping influence which comes from contact of youth with maturer minds. The endeavor is, by constant intercourse and watchful care, by precept and example, to mold and form, as well as to instruct, to prepare the pupils to become not only accurate scholars, but noble men and women.

Should a student forget himself and overstep the limits of good conduct, he will be counseled with, and kindly encouraged to acquire better self-control. Such as appear to be amenable to admonition will be met with patience and forbearance. The student, however, who makes it evident that he is not to be led by kindness, and whose inveterate waywardness might be a stumbling-block to others, will be advised to look for the stronger hand elsewhere.

ATTENDANCE AND DEPARTMENT

Parents are earnestly requested to cooperate with the teachers in avoiding interruptions in school exercises, and in promoting habits of regular attendance. Absences materially interfere with school progress and make the attainment of satisfactory results difficult.

Regular reports based on class standings and examinations will be given to the students at the close of each term. These reports also include the record of the respective students in punctuality and deportment. No class or examination standings for any term will be credited to any student if, during the term, his record for deportment falls below 90.

As a requirement for graduation, students must have uniformly high standings in deportment, in punctuality, and in class work.

MISSIONARY WORK

Enthusiastic work in the interest of Missions is carried on throughout the year. Five of our former students are in foreign fields. They are Mrs. M. C. Clarke, Rev. and Mrs. August Youngren and Rev. and Mrs. Jules Ryff. Others will go in the near future.

ARTICLES TO BE FURNISHED BY STUDENTS

Two heavy blankets, three sheets, three pillow-cases, one pillow, six table napkins, comb and brush, mirror, a good water-proof coat or cloak, rubbers and umbrella. The rooms are all heated by hot air, or hot water, and are lighted by electricity.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

All students who enter the Intermediate and Academic departments are regarded as members of the Alexandrian Literary Society. They are expected to respond loyally and promptly when appointed to take any part on the literary programs. This society meets once in two weeks, on Friday evening. On the alternate Friday evenings the Philopolemic Debating Club and the Aletheian Club hold their regular meetings. Great interest has been awakened during the present year and a decided advance made in all lines of literary work.
